

THE FUNERAL TRAIN MARKER PROJECT

The most note worthy journey of the Lincoln presidency was the funeral train and national funeral in 1865. To formally acknowledge the approximately 440 communities along the route, two types of distinct and dedicated historical markers have been created. They focus on details of the train. This is a unique opportunity to recognize a nation's reverence toward the late President Abraham Lincoln on a local basis and to mark the passage of the funeral train. Below are two types of marker. The COMMEMORATIVE SITE MARKER is designed for those who want an economical way to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the passage of the Lincoln Funeral Train. The larger TWO-SIDE CAST FUNERAL TRAIN HISTORY MARKER is designed for those who desire to share a more comprehensive history of the Lincoln Funeral Train. Details below.

"UNITED STATES" THE LINCOLN FUNERAL CAR

The coffin of President Abraham Lincoln and that of his son William were transported to Springfield, Illinois for burial in the first presidential private car "United States". The car was built by the United States Military Railroads for President Lincoln's use. He never saw the car in life, it was sold after his burial. The car was used on the Union Pacific Railroad during construction of the Transcontinental Railroad. It was eventually sold to a private individual. It was destroyed in a fire in Minnesota in 1911.

The car was of wood construction, with sixteen special wheels of wide tread, allowing it to operate on tracks of various gauges. It had hand brakes and link-and-pin couplers. The interior was divided into three rooms, heated by two wood stoves. It was considered state of the art in 1865.
